

Ms. Schwartz has been involved with transportation demand management (TDM) and traffic mitigation programs in the Washington Metropolitan area for over 30 years.

Ms. Schwartz is the Executive Director of the Transportation Action Partnership, Inc. (TAP) and has been involved with TAP since its inception in 1987. Since 1996, TAP has operated the North Bethesda Transportation Management District.

Peggy also worked for the Artery Organization and the Charles E. Smith Companies, two of the region's major developers, to implement and manage traffic mitigation programs required as a condition of development approval. Previously she worked for Public Technology Inc. as the Director of Transportation Programs and as a planner for the City of Rockville.

Ms. Schwartz has been active with the Association for Commuter Transportation (ACT) for over 20 years and has served as a past president of the Chesapeake Chapter and on the national Board of Directors. Peggy is a graduate of the Leadership Montgomery and the Maryland Smart Growth Leadership Program.

She has a degree in Urban Studies from Hiram College and a Master's degree in Regional Planning from Cornell University.
